Elizabeth Carney is a children's writer and editor specializing in children's nonfiction. She has written a number of books for National Geographic Kids, including Face to Face With Cheetahs; Face to Face With Gorillas; Great Migrations: Whales, Wildebeests, Butterflies, Elephants, and Other Amazing Animals on the Move; and NGK Angry Birds Playground Atlas. From the Hardcover edition.

My 6 years old daughter loves reading this book! Beautifully illustrated!

I was really looking forward to buying this for a long time. I kept going back and forth between National Geographic and DK encyclopedias for my children to use as reference books. I am disappointed by the content. We liked the pictures but the content is so minimal and dry that my children just can't get much out of it at 6 and 4 years old. It feels like an over priced intro to the world. I wouldn't have bought it if I saw it in person.

We love the entire collection. My kids are such big fans of these books and we, the parents, are also learning so many things we didn't know before. The cool thing about this collection is that it entices the little ones to ask more questions. Hence every book in the collection is a great starting point for more research on particular topics that they are interested in.

Grandchild very pleased with this book as are all National Geographic books.

I am big fan of Little Kids First Big Book of series so I crabbbed this one on pre-order. My little one is is big fan too so I hope she will swallow this one in few hours.

My kids like this book, they always want to read it every night before they go to bed. It is a great book to let your on the diversity in world and different part of the world.

We love this entire series and have bought almost all of them. Vibrant pictures and perfect amount and level of information for kids

We got this book for our son for Christmas. He's 4 1/2 and extremely interested in different parts of the world and how things work. We were so impressed by the Space book in this series that we decided to get him another. The perks are the color photographs and concise facts about the parts of the world that a child would be interested in, such as animals, plants and places.
